● Friday afternoon, while playing golf, I suddenly remembered that I had not had one of these so called summer colds all during the present summer. At the time I felt fine. I was hitting the ball straight and true, although not very far, and had a sense of physical well-being that makes the world a very fine place indeed. In remembering that no colds had come thus far was no premonition of trouble ahead.

● Now, no man can say where a cold comes from or why. They just arrive and that is all we ever know about the matter. I sat around at the golf course after my game and talked to friends and kept on feeling fine. In the meantime a cool wind had come up, and my belief is that I cooled off too rapidly, this being mere guesswork, of course. An hour later at supper I noticed a sudden flat taste to the things which I normally like, and a peculiar craving for acid drinks. I suddenly wanted grapefruit juice or something on that order, and I wondered, too, if a lot of kraut would not taste good. From past experience I knew that something was brewing within, and that the devilish germs of cold had wandered into my interior mechanism.

● But after supper the feeling wore away and I decided it was all imagination. I felt pretty good, although there was a bitter taste in my mouth and a sudden tickling far down in the throat. But I still felt that it was a false alarm, although deep within me, I knew I was kidding myself. I went on to the show and then to the ball game, and symptoms were not serious. It was only when I got home at ten o'clock that I knew I was in for it. By this time I was hot and cold at the same time, and the tickling in the throat had become more pronounced. I read a while and before long a slight cough had come. I adopted the usual home precautions, which never amount to anything, and finally went to sleep.

● The summer cold was with me when I woke Saturday morning. I woke with a feeling of utter lassitude, with that bitter taste in my mouth still more bitter, and instead of the tickling in the throat it had become a thing which brought on a hacking cough. I eyed the breakfast food with a dull eye. Nothing seemed attractive; water, which I seemed to want, tasted like medicine, and I had an intense desire to go back to bed and let the world go by. Now that is what a fellow should do when one of these colds comes along. All the doctors will tell you this, and any adult person who has gone through several of these colds will agree with the doctor. But none of us will ever do it. I can't remember that I ever did it unless fever came along to force me to bed. When that comes I can't keep going. But I am just like everybody else. With the ordinary summer cold I just keep on going.

● So down to work I came at the usual time. The world which had seemed so beautiful the morning before seemed a drab and dreary thing on this morning, although it was just the same world, and the usual morning chores seemed much more difficult and disagreeable than ever before. Small things irritated and maddened me. The ringing of the telephone, the sud-

President In
Call To 60,000
National Guards

Federal Service For One Year
Will Begin on Sept.
16th.

Aboard Roosevelt Train.—President Roosevelt. Summoned 60,000 National Guardsmen to a year's Federal military service starting September 16.

The order was released aboard a special train carrying the President South for Labor Day addresses dedicating Chickamauga Dam, on the Tennessee River near Chattanooga, and the Great Smoky Mountains National Park.

White House officials called it a "non-political trip," on which Mr. Roosevelt started out this morning from his home at Hyde Park, N. Y.

Trip Has Defense Angles
Like the order on the National Guard, it did have its National Defense Angles.

Chickamauga Dam, for instance, is one of a series of Tennessee Valley Authority dams. T. V. A. is producing power now for vital defense plants, and Congress has appropriated funds for expansion.

Conservation of America's material and cultural resources and the preservation of the Nation's way of life have been stressed by the President as elements in the broader aspects of defense.

Mr. Roosevelt will resume his inspection of actual defense projects Tuesday with a visit to the Naval gun and armor plant at South Charleston, W. Va.

Four Divisions Called
Four complete Guard divisions with the exception of their tank companies, will start active training September 16.

In addition, Mr. Roosevelt called out seven anti-aircraft, eight harbor defense and three 155-millimeter gun units of the coast artillery and four squadrons of observation aviation.

He broke out a window in the McDade Service Station in Highlands, but failed to steal anything. McDade was notified and he and Whitesell chased the thief down. He was brought to town and turned over to authorities.

King stated this morning that he was enroute from St. Louis to New Orleans. He denies that he was the thief that broke into McDade's Station last Sunday night.

100-Year Invisibility Is Claimed For Paint On Planes

San Francisco.—Development of a paint which on hazy days makes an airplane almost invisible at 100 to 200 yards is claimed by a San Francisco manufacturing concern.

Reports from Berlin that the British were using a so-called invisible paint on warplanes brought forth the announcement from the W. P. Fuller Company.

The new compound still is in the experimental stage but its effectiveness already has been determined. Harold Acker, company chemist, said. He described it as a flat gray, very dull with no pigment. An aluminum ingredient provides the color.

It is one of three aircraft camouflage paints developed by the company. The first and oldest type was described as a dull black which absorbs light and makes a high-flying plane hard to pick up with

Resigns Pastorate Of Christian Church

Dr. Don P. Hawkins, who came here a year ago from Palestine, Ill., to become pastor of the First Christian Church, yesterday submitted his resignation to the local church, and this was accepted with sincere regret by the congregation. Dr. Hawkins has been called to the pastorate of the First Christian Church in Dyersburg, Tenn., a much larger field of work, and while many local friends regret his departure from Fulton all are pleased that he is assuming this larger work with its greater opportunities for service.

During the past year Dr. Hawkins deeply impressed himself upon the entire community with his rare gifts. A musician, a lecturer, a minister, a worker in all community enterprises, he did a great work while here, and will be missed by the entire town. The best wishes of all go with him to his new home. He expects to begin his pastorate in Dyersburg on the first Sunday in October.

Believed That Motors For 25,000
Planes Will Be Made Available

Washington.—Newly placed orders for airplane engines—once called the bottleneck of the defense program—today brought prospects for engine production abreast of the Army-Navy goal of a 25,000-plane fleet in the next two years.

With new plant facilities already under construction and output steadily increasing a survey of contracts showed that upwards of 40,000 motors for all types of planes have been ordered for delivery by mid-1942.

At the rate of 1½ engines per plane figuring in multiple-motored craft experts estimated that this total would be more adequate for the goal of 25,000 planes of all types which defense officials have set for themselves by that time.

Other defense developments included disclosure by Army officials of a plan for spreading strategic defense industries over five inland areas comprising roughly all those sections of the country 200 to 250 miles or more away from coasts or international boundaries.

And, Secretary Stimson sought to avoid a conflict of interests between manpower and industrial production needs by requesting release from the National Guard of all officers and men holding key positions in defense industries.

In construction of new plants emphasis is expected to be placed on inland locations in line with the policy, disclosed yesterday, of avoiding vulnerable plant concentrations and obtaining minimum safety from air attack.

Fall And Bushart
Are Eliminated
In City Tourney

Two close matches were played in the quarter-finals of the City Tournament at the Country club yesterday. "Buck" Bushart was defeated by Charles Fritts, one of the leading contenders for the championship. At the end of the first round, Bushart was one up on Fritts, but Fritts came back strong on the second and won two up. Fritts shot a 41-37 and Bushart had a 39-41.

Clyde Williams, Jr., won over Ernest Fall, Jr., two up. Score for this match were Williams 41-43 and Fall 40-45.

"Boots" Rogers also reached the semi-finals by defeating Jerry Cavender Saturday afternoon. He will meet J. T. Howard in the semi-final round.

Fritts and Williams will play in the semi-finals and the winner of this match will play the winner of the Rogers-Howard match for the city championship.

Consolation Flight
For players defeated in the first round of the tournament a consolation flight is being held and the winner of this flight will receive a prize.

In the first bracket, Dave Craddock and Jimmie Cullum will play and the winner of this match will meet Leslie Weeks. Dr. Latimer defeated P. T. Jones in the first match and he will play Joe Hall. Skipper Bridge and J. D. Hale will play, the winner playing Frank Carr. The winner of the Hunter-Weeks-Frank Beadles match will play Jack Moore.

Archbishop Asks
"Moral Support"
Of U. S. In War

London.—The Archbishop of Canterbury broadcast an appeal to the United States Sunday for "all the strength of your moral and spiritual support" in the "grim struggle" in which he said Britain is "defending Christian civilization."

Recalling his series of talks in the United States twenty-two years ago, and the "relief and refreshment" that came to the Allies when the United States entered the World War, he declared that "once again might be arrayed against right and is threatening the liberties of the world and . . . so far, its success has been unbroken."

But, he said, continued air attack only is stiffening British determination and resistance and Britain will be ready for a more sustained attack if it comes.

In Britain, he said, "we honestly believe that we are holding the fort for other nations as well and for the world."

James W. Gordon
Dies Suddenly At Country Club

James W. Gordon, for many years one of the leading druggists of the city, died suddenly yesterday afternoon at 2:30 while playing golf at the local Country Club. He was stricken while playing the third hole and an ambulance was called to carry him to the hospital, but death came before the ambulance arrived. Dr. Robert Latimer, Union City surgeon who plays at the local golf course regularly, was just behind Mr. Gordon and was with him just after the sudden heart attack came.

Mr. Gordon was playing in a foursome with Frank Carr, Frank Beadles and Otis Carter. They had played the first two holes and were about half way to the third hole when Mr. Gordon told his friends to go ahead and finish out the hole without him. "I will wait here and catch my breath," he said. They went on, expecting him to join them as they passed the same spot on the way to the fourth hole. As they walked up the fairway Dr. Latimer and his foursome came behind them and looking back they saw that Mr. Gordon had been stricken. An ambulance was hastily called for, but nothing could be done for the stricken man, as death came within a few minutes. Friends said that Mr. Gordon had suffered other minor attacks in previous weeks, but said that it appeared then that he merely became too warm, and a short rest restored him.

Born In Bluegrass
Mr. Gordon was born in Nicholasville, Ky., and came to Fulton in 1902. He was connected with the Paris Drug Company for some years and later opened the Owl Drug Store on Main street in partnership with Jim Snow.

A few years later he bought Mr. Snow's interest and became sole owner of the business.

On December 26, 1910 Mr. Gordon was married to Miss Eula Lee Albritten, who, with one son, James Wallace, survive him. In addition to the widow and son who survive, Mr. Gordon is survived by a brother, D. B. Gordon of Louisville, and two sisters, Mrs. Frank Smith and Mrs. Lige Muir of Nicholasville, Ky. Only a few weeks he made one of his infrequent visits to his old home. Mr. Gordon was a member of the Methodist church.

Funeral services will be held from the family home on Third street tomorrow afternoon at 2:30, conducted by Dr. Don P. Hawkins, First Christian Church pastor, assisted by Rev. W. H. Saxon, pastor of First Methodist church. Active pallbearers will be Leo Terrell, Frank Beadles, Howard Edwards, Byron Blagg, Wilburn Holloway and Billy Atkins. Honorary pallbearers are all the doctors and druggists of the city, T. M. Franklin, L. O. Carter, Dr. J. L. Hillman, Frank Carr, T. T. Boaz, Lee Reeves, Billy Huddleston, L. T. Bugg and K. P. Dalton.

Mr. Gordon, while a quiet man, was one of the best liked men in the city and cherished hundreds of friendships. During his thirty-eight years in Fulton he drew men

All Refugees
Are Rescued By British Ships

Purser Listed As Only Victim
As Children Show
Bravery

London.—Torpedoing of a British refugee ship taking 320 children to Canada was announced by the Ministry of Information Sunday night but it said all the children were saved.

The ship remained afloat, the announcement said, but gave no indication of when or where it was hit and also kept secret its identity. The only casualty was the vessel's purser.

Singing Eases Rescue
As they took to the lifeboats, the children sang, "Oh Johnnie, Oh Johnnie" and "Roll Out the Barrel."

When more than seventy of the children had been landed at a Northern British port early Sunday most still were clad only in pajamas. A member of the crew said that "The children behaved splendidly and there was no panic. They took their lifeboat stations as if they were experienced seamen."

The fact that all of the children were saved was credited to their arduous lifeboat drill before the submarine struck. They were removed before it was known the ship would not sink.

They filed onto the slanting decks of the ship, marched to their lifeboat stations and were helped into the waiting boats with hardly a whimper, it was said.

Some From Scotland
The Ministry of Information announcement said that seventy-four of the children were from Scotland. The group was one of a number selected for transfer overseas by the Children's Overseas Reception Board, and were "almost entirely" from State aid schools.

Forty-Hour Week Is Endorsed For Plants Working On Defense Tools

Washington.—The Defense Commission, in a pre-Labor Day statement, endorsed today the 40-hour work week in defense industries and urged strict compliance with all labor standards laws.

The statement also recommended adherence to local custom with regard to the payment of overtime wages for work in excess of 40 hours, and work done on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. The wage-hour law permits work up to 42 hours a week without payment of overtime.

The pronouncement was the first from a government agency in recognition of next week's annual labor holiday.

The defense commission laid down these points of labor policy: "Adequate provision should be made for the health and safety of employees."

"As far as possible, local employment or other agencies designated by the United States Employment Service should be utilized.

"Workers should not be discriminated against because of age, sex, race or color.

"Adequate housing facilities should be made available for employees."

The commission reaffirmed, too, the labor policy laid down by the Army chief of ordnance in 1917 after the United States entered the World War.

The 1917 policy called for the maintenance of all employees established for labor, and for the establishment of a high standard of living conditions and a high production in the industries.

BRITAIN HAPPY IN ITS SACRIFICE

"Britain today is a happy country. That is the strangest thing that has happened to us in all this strange year." Thus writes Evelyn A. Montague in his remarkable story in yesterday's Courier-Journal of the re-birth of his country under the pounding of German bombs and the threat of German invasion.

The strange thing, however, is that it is not strange. It is history repeating itself. It is the response of a free people to forces that endanger their freedom—the same response as was given in the times of Philip II., of Napoleon and of Kaiser Wilhelm. It is the way Englishmen answer the call to discipline, work and sacrifice at a moment of world peril. It is a re-birth of the finer qualities of man.

Rupert Brooke in the early days of the World War felt that rebirth more keenly even than Mr. Montague and glorified in it. In one of his earlier sonnets the victim of the Gallipoli campaign told in stirring words of the effect of that conflict on the national spirit:

Blow, bugles, blow! You brought us for our death
Holiness lacked too long and love and plan,
Honor has come back as a King to earth
And paid his subjects with a royal Wage,
And Nobleness walks in our ways again,
And we have come into our heritage.

Today as then the threat of Germany is a clarion call to all but forgotten virtues, and Britain finds happiness in its self-denial and sacrifice.—Courier-Journal.

SIGNIFICANT

Special significance may be drawn from a statement issued at New York by William Allen White, chairman of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies.

Mr. White appealed for the "patient confidence of a united people" for President Roosevelt.

He added: "He has earned it. I, as a partisan Republican who has opposed him for eight years, want to pause to pay tribute to the President of the United States.

"From the beginning of this war against democracy he has known that our first line trench lay across the Rhine. His vision, more than that of any other ruler of the world, has seen from the start the meaning of this ancient conflict.

"We may agree or disagree with him on domestic policies; but I think no American statesman of the first order has risen to deny that his leadership in foreign affairs has pointed the only direction of safety for the American people."

Mr. White here displays the type of nonpartisanship that is demanded in this situation, for it is essential that if we are to present a strong front to the world we must unite in support of our leader.—Sun-Democrat.

Selected Feature

AUTOMATIC ATROCITIES

In sending to the United States pictures of churches, hospitals, schools, and humble homes bombed by the enemy, both Britain and Germany try to stress the brutality of the other.

It is useless. Everybody knows by now this much about aerial warfare:

1. No bomber, British or German, is stupid enough to waste bombs on targets like those if he can help it.

2. The plain fact is that air bombing is not accurate enough for any bomber to be sure what he will hit when he pulls the lever. He may aim with clear conscience at the munitions dump, but the worker's home or the First Methodist church gets the bomb.

War, and those who have resorted to war, must bear the blame for and death of these innocents, the destruction of these treasures. Atrocities propaganda, when the "atrocities" are the blind and inevitable result of the kind of war that is waged today, is not going to get anybody anywhere.—May field Messenger.

SUNSHINE AND SHADOWS

Portland, Ore.—For three years Wallie Travier hoarded his pennies until he had enough for a bicycle. Then he lost his bank on his way to the cycle shop.

After two more years he had saved enough to purchase a bicycle.

Just a week later, he rented it for 25 cents to a stranger. Bike and stranger disappeared.

Concord, Neb.—Ronnie Fisher, 10, has decided he doesn't want to be a parachutist after all.

He tried it out with an umbrella from the roof of a barn. Now he's recovering from a fractured leg.

Chillicothe, Mo.—Chillicothe Business College students welcomed their new football coach, Bob White, with bird calls every time he stepped on the campus. The situation hit a new high after a Tinsman, Ark., candidate asked for gridiron equipment and signed as Bob White, too. Coach White was elected. "Even if he can't carry the ball, he ought to divert some of the constant whistling."

For the information of indoor sportsmen, the bob white is a bird which has a whistling call.

Nature's Danger Signal

How much easier it is to keep well than to get well. In these strenuous times so many people have fagged out "feeling." They are tired all the time. They think they are all run down when they are more apt to be all wound up. And they do not recognize this as nature's danger signal that something is wrong.

Sanford Pitches Tigers To Eleven Inning Victory Over U. City 5 To 4

Lefty Sanford pitched the Tigers to an eleven inning victory over the Union City Greyhounds yesterday afternoon in Union City, the score being 5 to 4. Sanford was touched for a dozen hits, but kept so well scattered that no more than one run per inning could be scored on him. He held a one run lead until the ninth, when the Hounds managed to tie the score, but continued to hold the enemy at bay until the Tigers managed to get another run in the eleventh. He left ten men on bases, while the Tigers had fifteen men left to perish. The Tigers got ten hits off Spohn and Arnold, the latter being charged with the loss. Males batted in three runs with his two hits.

The two clubs are playing an afternoon game in Union City today and play at Fairfield tonight.

LOWE'S CAFE

to him, and these friendships always endured. For years he was interested in the Fulton County Fair and devoted much of his time to the organization, serving the last few years of its existence as president. He took a keen interest in state and national politics and few men in the city were better informed on these matters than he.

His home life was ideal, and there are few homes where mutual love and respect were more evident. For his wife and son he entertained the deepest and most lasting affection, and they in turn returned that deep affection. As a citizen he was always interested in his community, as a friend he was as true as steel, and as a husband and father he was ideal.

This newspaper extends its sincere sympathy to the saddened family.
